

RACHEL GRENON

Career and Personal Paths

As an artist, I have often had to rely on other sources of income to support my family. Therefore, I have gained a great deal of experience in the hotel business. Rachel Grenon Ceramist makes functional porcelain objects and takes a particular approach to gastronomy and marketing.

Why I Became an Entrepreneur or Administrator

My father was a businessman, and the five of us children are entrepreneurs. We could say that this path was determined by genetics to a certain extent. I believe that the best way to do what we love is to do it ourselves and surround ourselves with the right people.

Why I Am a Mentor

It is in my nature to help others and to allow them to benefit from my skills and positive outlook.

My Guiding Values

Seeing an individual realize his or her passion and want to develop creatively in a business.

My Passions and Interests

I believe in the saying, "Do what you like and money will come," as long as you have clear and realistic expectations and stay the course.
